

 SFUBEEDIE SCHOOL OF BUSINESS

The Beedie School of Business at Simon Fraser University in Metro Vancouver, British Columbia seeks outstanding candidates for one tenure-track position in Management Information Systems, beginning Fall 2018

The Beedie School of Business welcomes applications for the following position:

Assistant Professor in Management Information Systems

The successful candidate will possess a passion for high-quality research, demonstrated teaching excellence at the undergraduate level, the potential to teach to at the graduate and executive levels, and leadership abilities. Candidates working in all areas of Information Systems are encouraged to apply. Research interests consistent with Beedie's strategic priorities of innovation, socially responsible and sustainable business, and issues related to global business will be valued. Candidates with industry experience, who seek to engage with communities of practice, and make an impact through their research will be a good fit with the School's research culture. A publication record or pipeline in top and leading IS journals or a related field is an asset. Ph.D. is required by August 2018.

With three campus locations in Vancouver, Burnaby, and Surrey, British Columbia, SFU is a dynamic, entrepreneurial university driven by cutting-edge research, innovative teaching, and far-reaching community engagement. SFU Beedie reflects the university's values, which are encapsulated in the school's Vision 2022.

In addition to being recognized as a top ranked research school, SFU Beedie is accredited by both AACSB and EQUIS, and is signatory to Principles for Responsible Management Education. The school offers programs at the Undergraduate, Masters, Ph.D. and Executive levels, and boasts Canada's first Executive MBA program.

The City of Vancouver is ranked the 15th top Global Startup Ecosystem in the world, and is a thriving economy with many start-ups in the creative and software industries. In studies published in 2017, Canada is ranked the best country for quality of life and Vancouver places third among the most liveable cities in the world.

For more information on the application requirements and process, please visit:

beedie.sfu.ca/about/openings

