Virtual Book Launch:

HANDBOOK OF
Gender and Technology

TUESDAY
17th September
9:00-10:30 AM eastern

Zoom Webinar:
https://cmu.zoom.us/j/96377187195?pwd=1Cic4i9UTIcTBB2uhFpVLKHCDmukfI.1

HANDBOOK OF
Gender and Technology
Environment, Identity, Individual

Edited by
Eileen M. Trauth • Jeria L. Quesenberry

INTERNATIONAL HANDBOOKS ON GENDER
Founding Editor: Sylvia Chant

Join us for an engaging discussion on the "Handbook of Gender and Technology," edited by Eileen M. Trauth and Jeria L. Quesenberry. This volume explores the complex intersections of gender and technology, offering critical insights into how gender shapes and is shaped by technological advancements.

Invited Speakers:

- Monica Adya, PhD - Dean and Professor of Management, Rutgers School of Business – Camden, Rutgers - The State University of New Jersey, USA

- Manju Ahuja, PhD - Professor, School of Information Systems & Technology Management, University of New South Wales, Australia; and Frazier Family Professor of Computer Information Systems (on leave), College of Business, University of Louisville, USA

- Patience Akpan-Obong, PhD - Professor of Integrative Sciences & Arts, Arizonia State University, USA

- Mari W. Buche, PhD - Associate Dean, College of Business and Professor, Management Information Systems, Michigan Technological University, USA

- Florence M. Chee, PhD - Associate Professor of Digital Communication, and Director, Center for Digital Ethics & Policy and the Social & Interactive Media Lab, School of Communication, Loyola University Chicago, USA

- Eleanor T. Loiacono, PhD - Professor, of Business Analytics, College of William and Mary, USA

- Jeria L. Quesenberry, PhD - Associate Dean of Faculty and Teaching Professor, Carnegie Mellon University, USA (co-editor)

- Minna Salminen-Karlsson, PhD - Associate Professor Emerita, Centre for Gender Research, Uppsala University, Sweden

- Eileen M. Trauth, PhD - Professor Emeritus, Information Sciences & Technology and Women's Gender & Sexuality Studies, The Pennsylvania State University, USA (co-editor)

- Lynette Yarger, PhD - Professor, College of Information Sciences & Technology, and Associate Dean for Equity & Inclusion, Schreyer Honors College, The Pennsylvania State University, USA