Job Description

Are you looking for a tenure-track position that gives you the chance to excel in both teaching and research? Are you interested in joining a diverse team of engaged, motivated, and cooperative faculty? Do you enjoy interacting with hard-working students that are driven to succeed? Would you like to live in a beautiful climate mere minutes from the Pacific Ocean in a town once described as the "Happiest Place in America"?

Then you're in luck, because the Orfalea College of Business at Cal Poly is currently seeking applicants for a full-time, tenure track, academic year position at the rank of Assistant Professor in the primary area of Information Systems (IS). Preference will be given to applicants with a demonstrated track record or evidence of potential in both teaching and research. The position is designed to strengthen Cal Poly's on-going efforts in enhancing Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion (DEI) climate, thus the candidate is expected to incorporate a DEI emphasis in instruction, research, and service.

Applicants are expected to demonstrate exemplary teaching, a strong publication record and research pipeline, and currency in their professional field. The successful candidate must have completed or close of the completion of a doctorate or equivalent degree in Information Systems or a closely related field from an AACSB accredited institution. The PhD/DBA should be awarded by the time of appointment in Fall 2025. Must have the ability to work with diverse students, colleagues and/or engaging diversity in the curriculum and/or research.

Questions about the position can be directed to the chair of the search committee, Dr. Jim Burleson, at jburleso@calpoly.edu.

HOW TO APPLY

Interested candidates must attach (1) a cover letter, (2) resume/curriculum vitae, and (3) a diversity statement. All applicants are required to submit a diversity statement. The diversity statement should demonstrate the applicant's commitment to diversity and inclusion in teaching, scholarship and/or service by describing past experience, contributions to diversity and inclusion efforts, the impact on students, faculty, staff and/or your field and a description of how the candidate will demonstrate a commitment in these areas in teaching, research, and/or service at Cal Poly. Please be prepared to provide three professional references with names and email addresses when completing the online faculty application. Review of applications will begin November 1, 2024 and will continue until the position is filled.

Job Requirements

The successful candidate must have completed or be close to the completion of a doctorate or equivalent degree in Information Systems or a closely related field from an AACSB accredited institution. The PhD/DBA should be awarded by the time of appointment in Fall 2025. Applicants are expected to demonstrate exemplary teaching, a strong publication record and research pipeline, and currency in their professional field. Applicants must have the ability to work with diverse students and/or engage diversity in the curriculum.

Demonstrated experience and commitment to student-centered learning and teaching, as well as the ability to collaboratively work in multidisciplinary settings is required. Demonstrated proficiency in written and oral use of the English language is required.

The Orfalea College of Business is committed to creating and sustaining a diverse university community that reflects and serves the population of California. We are seeking applicants with demonstrated experience in and/or commitment to teaching and working effectively with individuals from diverse backgrounds and members of underrepresented groups. Applicants must submit a diversity statement that displays evidence of the applicant's ability to support a diverse, equitable, and inclusive experiential learning environment.
